

NSPIRE-US FOUNDATION

STUDY ABROAD PROGRAM IN AFRICA

3 Countries in 7 Days!!!

THE NSPIRE-US SCHOLARS WILL LEARN....

Le Monument de la Renaissance Africaine African Renaissance Monument

The 160 feet tall, bronze African Renaissance Monument that proudly sets against the Atlantic, is over one-and-a-half times the height of the Statue of Liberty. It depicts the strength of a strong man carrying his infant in one hand and pulling his wife with the other. Leading his family, the infant points ahead to indicate the glorious future, while the wife extends her arm behind to acknowledge the troubled past while her hair is being swept back by the wind.

The NSA Scholars will be able to take an elevator up to the top of the monument for a full view of the city and terrific pictures of the surrounding areas.

Latriya Village Initiative Banjul, The Gambia

The Latriya Village is where the NSA Scholars will spend two days learning their African village culture and participating in humanitarian initiatives such as teaching basic math, English and hygiene to the village youth. Hands-on learning the horticulture by gardening with the village mothers, learning to draw water from the village well and pound rice from the husk.

Nspire-US Foundation will also ship a prepacked modest sized container with donated products from the US to donate to the Latriya Village.

“Know Your Roots” Kunta Kinteh Village

In the Gambia, the Kunta Kinteh Village is listed as a UNESCO (United Nations, Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization World Heritage Site). NSA Scholars will study the village and the impact of the slave trade, where hundreds of thousands of slaves were taken. Near the village, we will be able to study a 18th-century slave ship replica and visit the Albreda Slave Museum.

The Kunta Kinteh Village made a splash in the US by the famous Author Alex Haley with his hit US television series, Roots. In 1977 the book was adapted into a television mini-series and was shown by the ABC TV network on the 23 January 1977 and received 130 million viewers over 8 nights. At the time it was the highest rated TV mini-series according to the Nielsen Ratings.

SENGAL & THE GAMBIA

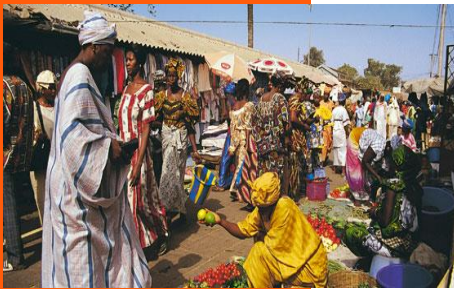

Scholars EARN This Opportunity

Each scholar have the opportunity to study culture, monuments, and historical artifacts from 3 countries in 7 days. Each scholar will be required to complete a 14-week workshop to earn this valuable experience. The workshop will include, character education, self & historical reflection, guest speakers, group discussions, voluntary community service hours and fund raising. This Study abroad program will give the NSA Scholars a better vantage point of the true studies of the slave trade. For many African-Americans, Alex Haley's Roots story is a main reference to the existence of slavery. This trip will give the scholars a new sense of understanding and inspire them to uncover their thirst for historical knowledge.

Education is simply the soul of a society and is essential to change.
